THE GRIZZLY

Cover design and above sketch by Gale Morgan.

This 1967 issue of THE GRIZZLY recognizes the fortieth anniversary of the El Dorado Junior College, forerunner of the present institution. At the same time it presents in considerable detail the buildings and facilities of the new campus of the Butler County Community Junior College of El Dorado, Kansas, and the greatly increased student body and staff that have been the direct result of the school's reorganization and expansion.

Administrators

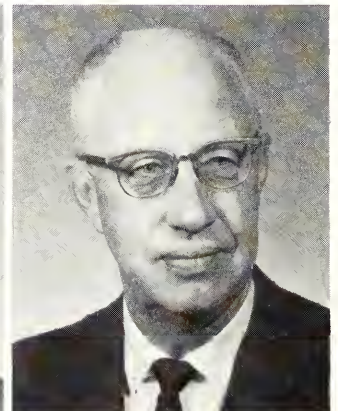

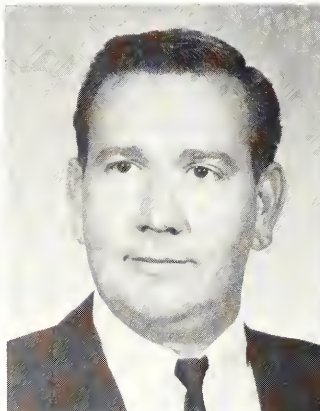

Unified Campus Achieved Through Administrative Leadership

THE SIGNIFICANT GROWTH of the school has made it necessary to have educators in administrative positions in various areas of the Butler County Community Junior College. These directors have offices in the new administration building, with the exception of Mrs. Mettler, whose office is located in the nursing area.

WILLIAM CUMMINS, Academic Dean and Registrar
LEONARD J. MCKINNEY, Director of Adult Education and Business Education

RONALD D. WILSON, Director of Vocational and Technical Training

Faculty

Increased Staff Meets Students' Needs

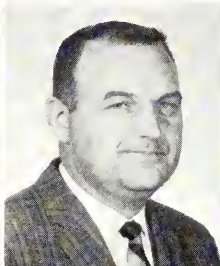

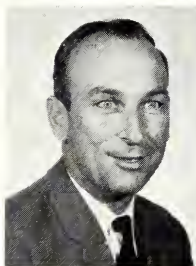

SINCE OUR COLLEGE became a county community college three years ago, the faculty, as well as the student body, has tripled in number. The student-faculty ratio, therefore, remains about twenty students per teacher so that the ideal principle of the junior college to provide individual student help may be maintained.

Student Union

FOOD SERVICE is one of the main attractions of the student union for dormitory residents and other school personnel who patronize regularly the cafeteria and snack bar. The bookstore provides necessary materials for the students, and smaller rooms are available for small dinner parties. As the social center of the campus the recreational area is a major attraction, and the dining room converts beautifully into a ballroom.

Curriculum Offerings Varied and Expanded

THE FINE ARTS building is the center of the music, art, and drama activities of the school. Practice rooms, art laboratories, and stagecraft areas are provided for students' use. The auditorium, designed for a little theater, affords facilities for small campus meetings and performing groups and for community interests. The stage is provided with one of the best equipped lighting systems in the area, making possible dramatic and varied lighting effects. The presence of this fine arts center on our campus offers a splendid cultural atmosphere for all.

Completes Training

NURSING STUDENTS in the first class at Butler County Community College will qualify, at the end of the semester, to write the state board examinations. The nursing department, located in the 300 vocational building, is equipped with hospital facilities for the study of bedside care. Actual clinical experience is received in various nursing areas at the Sedgwick County Hospital and Clinic, Wichita; the Prairie View Mental Health Center, Newton; and the Susan B. Allen Memorial Hospital, El Dorado. Additional experience is gained by visiting various community resources, such as nursery schools, mental health centers, Red Cross rooms and ambulance services.

Student Council

Membership Increased to Meet Added Responsibilities

ONE OF THE INITIAL objectives of this year's student council has been to increase the membership of the council for activities and responsibilities related to the completed campus. Additional representatives from the two classes have made up most of the increase of membership.

The business of the student council includes sponsoring the major social all-school events such as the winter and spring proms and homecoming, the control and review of parking regulations, and the coordination of activities of all campus organizations. The Council also serves as the liaison between the student body and the administration.

The council holds an active membership in the Kansas Public Junior College Student Council Association with Phil Olsen serving as vice-president and Linda Phares as secretary-treasurer.

THE FAVORITES' DANCE

FROM THIS in 1926-1927

TO THIS in 1966-1967

Mr. Nixon has been an influential force in both the school and the community throughout these years. As a speech teacher he directed over fifty major plays as well as many one-act plays. His debate team in 1938, 1951, and 1955 placed first in the National Junior College Debate Tournament; and in other speech contests, one student won national first place in Women's Extempore Speaking, and another in interpretive Reading.

In the community Mr. Nixon served for eight years as president of the El Dorado Concert Association and later was a member of its board of directors. He also helped found the El Dorado Little Theatre and was an officer in the local UNESCO chapter. His leadership in the community has given him added opportunities to involve his students and fellow-teachers in community programs; for his philosophy of education has included the involvement of students and faculty in the academic and cultural climate of school and community.

To see him set out from the campus for town at a brisk pace that most students would not want to match is to realize that his many years of association with the young people of the community have kept him youthful in body as well as in spirit. As he has served faithfully the school in the past, we trust the school will continue to serve the youth of the future in bringing educational opportunities and scholarly vision to all who pass through its doorways.

An Anniversary and A Retirement

Forty years ago last September 5, 115 students enrolled in the newly opened El Dorado Junior College and attended classes in the third floor area and two classrooms of the second floor of the present El Dorado Junior High School building.

Two years later Mr. Lester W. Nixon, a young teacher with seven years of experience and a newly earned Master's Degree from Columbia University, came to El Dorado to become an instructor in the junior college. Here he has remained for a total of thirty-eight years and has seen that young, small school struggle for existence, develop an academic stature in the community, and finally demand a program of revision and expansion that resulted in the creation of the Butler County Community Junior College and the construction of twelve buildings on an eighty-acre campus.

LESTER W. NIXON, 1967

WHEN MR. NIXON grades his last paper at the end of the semester, directs graduating sophomores to place their mortar board tassels properly, and hands out his last grade card on June 2, he will close the door on forty-five years of devoted service to the teaching profession, thirty-eight years of which have been spent in El Dorado. Except for a short time early in his El Dorado career when he taught some high school classes, he has been associated specifically with the junior college. Students who have sat under his instruction, whether the course was composition, literature, English history, psychology, children's literature, New Testament, speech, or debate, have found his intellectual stature stimulating and inspiring.

Elected to Pi Delta Kappa, national honor education fraternity, while he was a student at Columbia University, he has encouraged and guided many students to pursue academic excellence for themselves, and he has introduced countless others to literature, art, music, and other interests through the interrelatedness of his subject matter. As the result of his classroom accomplishments his influence will continue to reach into the lives of untold numbers of persons who will become recipients of ideas and principles passed on to them by those who have studied under Mr. Nixon, our honored instructor.

Utilize Facilities of Unified Campus

FOR THE FIRST TIME in the history of Butler County, junior college sophomores on a new, large campus have the opportunity to complete two years of college work in an increased variety of courses of study. Graduates in vocations, in technical fields, and a parallel program of the university are preparing themselves for places in the world of tomorrow.

A BUSY SPRING culminated with the first commencement on the new campus.

Spring Activities

CHAMPIONS of Junior College Bowling Tournament.

VICTORS OF GIRLS' Volleyball Tournament

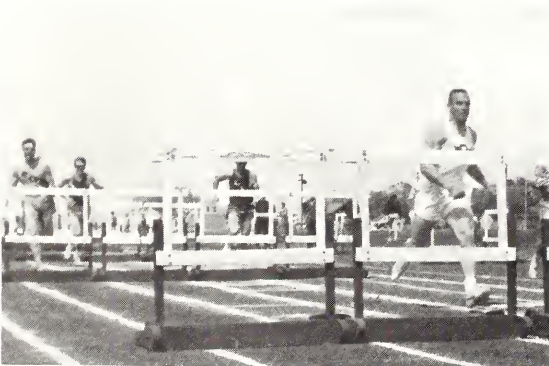

Spring Sports

SPRING SPORTS included a girls' volleyball tournament, a girls' softball tournament, golf, track, and a school-wide bowling tournament. The golf and track teams attended several meets. Melvin Weber won the newly instituted pentathlon at the Butler County Invitational meet. Bill Billins set a new school record in the pole-vault event, and Terry Maddox won the intermediate hurdles event at the State Jayhawk Junior College meet in Hutchinson. Weber and Maddox went to Garden City where Weber placed fifth in the javelin event.

In Memoriam

JOHNNY PETE and MICHAEL VESEY, freshman athletes at Butler County were victims of a fatal one-car accident near Towanda on April 15, 1967. They were enroute from Wichita to El Dorado to assist at a track meet. Johnny was a starting player on the basketball team all season. Mike, a second-semester transfer student expected to be a member of the football team next year. Friends and teammates alike have sensed a great personal and group loss.

Drama

THE SPRING PRODUCTION of the dramatic department was Saul Levitt's "The Andersonville Trial" directed by Mr. Patten. The actors played three nights to appreciative audiences. Robert Carroll as Lt. Col. Chandler, well-known Wichita television personality, played the role he created in the original New York production.

Speech

FORENSIC activities this spring featured a busy debate team that participated in twenty tournaments and won sixteen trophies. Peggy Dill, Steve Moore, Mike King, Curtis Harshfield, Linda Phares, and Mr. McAdoo attended the national Phi Rho Pi Tournament in Modesto, California. The first annual speech banquet provided an opportunity for public presentation of awards, one of which was the mastercraftsman award, first such honor to be made. Celia Conger and Raymond Orr received the honor.

Nixon Week

STUDENT COUNCIL, faculty, and Juco Wives sponsored Nixon Week from April 17 to 23 to honor Mr. Nixon who retires this spring after thirty-eight years at the school. The student council sponsored a convocation during the week. At the faculty banquet Mr. James B. McKay announced the naming of the library as the Lester W. Nixon Library. A public reception with refreshments served by the Juco Wives on Sunday afternoon closed the week of festivities.
